

Jue R'Gon, Jungle Wurm

Jue R'gon is a huge worm in the Jungles of Wkawn. This insatiable monstrosity has been tunneling paths beneath the jungle and became the top of the food chain shortly after growing to its current size. It's growth has taken many decades, but now it is larger than most heavy warships, and has been known to swallow men whole. From time to time Jue'Rgon will spit a swallowed person back out after traveling hundreds of miles from where they were. The reason is not fully known, it could be a dislike of their equipment, it could be indigestion, or it could be intentional.

The worms appetite grows every year as it becomes a larger and larger being, and it needs to be taken down before it decides to set its hunger upon the city of Assa.
